Steve Gilliland

Steve was the featured speaker at this year's convention. He was great!

Steve Gilliland asked me share some information about his Motivation Bites™ videos. These on-demand bite-sized videos deliver a consistent, deliberate, and inspiring message. Each one is filled with distinct principles to effectively help increase performance, learning, and development.

North Carolina Movers Association members will enjoy viewing and sharing these motivational videos from Steve.

For your convenience, I have attached information that outlines the features and deliverables. To preview these one-of-a-kind inspirational videos, click on the following link.

MOTIVATION BITES

"Your video on the topic of ADAPTABILITY in the workplace was remarkable. I received several positive comments this week from employees. Great message on how to be flexible and respond effectively to working conditions even if things don't go as planned. We love the bites!"

PAUL McMANUS, STRATEGIC ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT & HR LEADER
PIEDMONT ADVANTAGE CREDIT UNION

MOTIVATION BITES™ are on-demand, bite-sized microlearning filled with distinct principles to effectively help increase performance, learning and development. This is a cost-effective enhancement to your professional training, and a way to expand your digital education strategy. Each five-minute video delivers a consistent, deliberate and inspiring motivational message weekly to create a positive workplace culture that improves teamwork, raises morale, increases productivity and efficiency, and enhances the retention of the workforce.

- DESCRIPTION: To promote learning and interest to employees, a brief description of each topic is provided.
- USERS: Unlimited.
- USAGE: Downloads provide indefinite access for continuous employee development, pace consideration and remote learning.

FEATURES

MOTIVATION BITES™ are high-quality videos created and delivered by Hall of Fame Speaker Steve Gilliland. They will increase motivation, develop competencies, improve creativity, inspire goal setting, nurture talents, boost engagement and encourage people to change non-productive behaviors.

"Personal growth and development empowers people to produce better results."

Engagement – Sharing and playing a weekly motivational video is great for collaboration, galvanizing your team and appealing to your staff. These videos, with engaging content, are interesting and inject a level of personality to the message that is not expressed in other formats. After team members view each video, open it up for discussion.

Retention – Each five-minute video applies state-of-the-art technology and special effects to improve retention of the content, reduce cognitive overload and increase viewer attentiveness. Employees prefer a video over reading documents, emails or online articles. People retain 20% of what they read and 80% of what they watch.

Accessibility – Videos can be made accessible on all devices with varying internet speeds because they are short and light. Multi-device delivery of videos enables learners to access the videos on a desktop or a laptop, at home or at the office, and through smartphones and other handhelds when they're traveling.

Efficiency – You will simply deliver a weekly video to your employees' devices. This consistent and timely release of videos allows team members not only "anytime anywhere" access, but also lets them learn at their own pace.

Applicable – Each weekly video theme promotes performance essentials in the workplace. These topics help build careers and provide opportunities to invest in employees at a phase where they can be supported as they grow in their jobs.

Digital Assets – These downloadable videos can be saved and accessed anytime for employee development to support their professional advancement and personal growth. These resources are a perfect way to help set up new hires for success and emphasize the importance of continuous improvement.

Culture – These relevant videos foster a positive workplace atmosphere that reduces stress in employees. Job satisfaction, collaboration and work performance are all enhanced. They are upbeat and help build workplace environments in which employees can feel engaged, inspired and productive.
